“ I remember this one time we all went fishing as a famliy down at the river and every time he got a bight he'd sling that pole back and start rilling just as fast as he could until it wouldn't rill anyone more.... He'd think he just had a huge fish but really it was a rock he was stuck on and everytime he'd pop the line he'd get so mad but we all just laughed and would go back fishing! I love you unc and miss your crazy self more than anything
